(1) The first part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the general principles of the theory of the structure of the crystal lattice. It is shown that the structure of the crystal lattice is determined by the balance of the forces of attraction and repulsion between the atoms.
 The forces of attraction are due to the electrostatic interaction between the positive and negative ions.
 The forces of repulsion are due to the overlap of the electron shells of the atoms. The balance of these forces determines the equilibrium distance between the atoms, which is the lattice constant. The lattice constant is a function of the temperature and the pressure. The theory of the structure of the crystal lattice is a subject of great importance in physics and chemistry. It is the basis of the understanding of the properties of the solid state.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is written in a single column across approximately 10 lines. The script is dense and flowing, with many loops and flourishes. The paper is aged and discolored, showing signs of wear and tear. The text is written in a dark ink, possibly iron gall or a similar historical pigment. The overall appearance is that of a well-preserved but clearly antique document.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a letter or document, written on aged, yellowed paper. The text is dense and fills most of the page, with some lines appearing to be crossed out or heavily corrected. There are two distinct circular holes or indentations in the paper, one near the left edge and one near the right edge. The handwriting is fluid and characteristic of the 18th or 19th century.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is written on aged, yellowed paper and is mostly illegible due to fading and damage. There are two distinct dark spots, possibly holes or ink stains, visible on the page.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is written on aged, yellowed paper and is arranged in several lines across the page. The script is dense and flowing, characteristic of 18th or 19th-century handwriting. There are two distinct circular marks or holes visible on the page, one near the center and another towards the right side. The text appears to be a continuous narrative or record, possibly related to a legal or administrative matter, given the formal nature of the script and the presence of the holes, which might indicate where the document was once bound or filed.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is written on aged, yellowed paper and is organized into several lines. The script is dense and flowing, characteristic of early modern handwriting. There are two distinct circular holes visible in the center of the page, suggesting it was once part of a bound volume. The text appears to be in a historical language, possibly Latin or a vernacular from the same period.

Handwritten text in a script, likely Tamil, covering the entire page. The text is densely packed and appears to be a continuous narrative or record. The script is written in dark ink on aged, slightly discolored paper. There are two distinct circular holes punched through the paper, one near the left center and one near the right center, which are likely from a traditional binding method. The text is arranged in approximately 10-12 horizontal lines, though some lines are more densely packed than others. The overall appearance is that of an old, well-used manuscript or document.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a manuscript. The text is densely packed and covers most of the page. There are two large circular holes visible in the center of the page, suggesting it was once bound or had a central fold. The script is difficult to decipher due to its cursive nature and the age of the document.

Handwritten text in the top right corner, possibly a date or a reference number.

Handwritten text in the bottom right corner, possibly a signature or a concluding note.
